

THE FOLLY OF GLOBAL WARMING

Global warming is the biggest environmental issue of our time.

- The U.N. recently announced global warming is leading inexorably to global catastrophe.
- Al Gore won the "best documentary" Oscar for his disaster film An Inconvenient Truth.
- The news media beat the drum of "climate catastrophe" daily, all but ignoring scientists who say the threat is overblown or nonexistent.
- Time magazine ran a cover story on the topic in 2006 entitled "Be Very Worried".
- Across America, school children are frightened to death with tales of rising oceans, monster tornadoes, droughts and millions dying – all because of man-made global warming.

"The planet has a fever. If your baby has a fever, you go to the doctor. If the doctor says you need to intervene here, you don't say, 'Well, I read a science fiction novel that told me it's not a problem.' If the crib's on fire, you don't speculate that the baby is flame retardant. You take action." – Al Gore, before the House of Representative Energy and Commerce Committee

"Climate change is now widely regarded as the biggest problem facing the planet... We have to recognize that the biggest cause of climate change is climate changers—in other words, human beings ... having fewer children is 'the simplest, quickest and most significant thing any of us could do to leave a sustainable and habitable planet for our children and grandchildren.' The best thing we can do for our children is not to have them."

—John Guillebaud, Professor of Family Planning and Reproductive Health at the University College of London Medical School

"The greatest threat to this planet is rising human population levels...The key to addressing all the world's ecological problems is in reducing human populations. The goal should be under one billion."

— Paul Watson, Captain of Sea Shepherd Society and co- founder of Greenpeace

The founder of the Weather Channel said the campaign to promote the theory of man-made global warming is "the greatest scam in history." John Coleman, now a meteorologist for San Diego TV station KUSI, called it a "manufactured crisis" by "dastardly scientists with environmental and political motives" who have "manipulated long-term scientific data to create an illusion of rapid global warming."

Government power: Public policies being proposed at the international, national, and state levels in the name of "stopping global warming" would result in a massive increase in the size and power of the state. To reduce emissions, governments must raise energy costs directly, with taxes, or indirectly, with mandates and subsidies. The issue is about control! For advocates of limited government, the debate over global warming is one of the preeminent issues of our time.

Economic harm: Energy is the "master resource," used in the creation of nearly all other goods and services. Making energy artificially scarce therefore imposes enormous economic costs. Reducing greenhouse gas emissions even modestly is estimated to cost the average household in the U.S. a cool $3,372 per year and would destroy 2.4 million jobs. Some observers believe that the real goal of the radical advocates is the destruction of the U.S. economy.

THE FACTS ABOUT GLOBAL WARMING

Global warming is a prime example of the alarmism that characterizes much of the environmental movement. Media coverage of the topic is heavily slanted toward alarmism because "bad news sells," making it difficult for climate realists to get a fair hearing.

Christians and other responsible citizens should ask two questions:

1. Is it Real?

The truth is maybe – but if so, it is only happening on a very small scale.

Climate science reveals that the world has warmed less than 1 degree (F) during the past century, with half of that warming occurring before human emissions could have been responsible.

Most of the rise in temperature occurred before 1940, during a period when industrial production was relatively insignificant. After the Second World War, during the Post-War Economic Boom, temperatures in theory should have shot up, but they didn't. They fell. Not for one or two years, but for four decades. In fact, paradoxically, it wasn't until the world economic recession in the 1970s that they stopped falling. During this time, some scientists were warning us about a coming Ice Age.

NASA reports that their global temperature measurements reveal no warming trend for the past 20 years.

2. Are We Responsible?

There is no consensus about the causes, effects, or future rate of global warming.

All of the supposed catastrophic effects of global warming have been rebutted by scientists, including melting ice, hurricanes and other extreme weather, and the extinction of wild life.

Most climate scientists doubt the reliability of computer models and the accuracy of land-based temperature records [Garbage In – Garbage Out].

There is also disagreement over what to do about global warming. Economists believe the Kyoto Protocol, the treaty intended to reduce human greenhouse gas emissions (which are only about 4% of the total carbon dioxide), would cost its participants trillions of dollars while having little or no effect on the global climate. This treaty was rejected by the U.S. Senate (95 to 5).

An increasing number of experts believe the recent warming is due to natural cycles driven by variability in solar radiation.

It may surprise you to hear that some scientists believe that global warming would be a good thing – especially for countries in the Northern Hemisphere. It would mean longer growing seasons, and more food production. (Warmer is better than colder!)

This does not mean that we should not care for planet earth. We are stewards:

“And God blessed them [Adam and Eve], and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.”

—Genesis 1:28

The earth was given unto us by God, and passed on to us by our ancestors, and we will pass it on to our children and grandchildren. Some day, God will judge us for how we carried out our stewardship.

THE FUTURE OF GLOBAL WARMING

There is a coming global warming that we should fear and prepare to face:

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.”

—II Peter 3:10

The Lord Jesus Christ is coming back to earth someday. Are you prepared to meet Him?

You can be by receiving Him as your personal Lord and Savior.

“For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.” – Romans 10:13

The Truth About Global Warming

“While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease.”

— Genesis 8: 22
